Now Available! Engelmann's Direct Instruction: Selected Writings from the Past Half Century

In addition to developing highly effective instructional programs, Siegfried Engelmann has written extensively about learning and teaching, providing insight into the theoretical and philosophical basis of Direct Instruction as well as the field of education as a whole.

A new book from NIFDI Press, Engelmann's Direct Instruction: Selected Writings from the Past Half Century, brings together, for the first time, a selection of these articles, illustrating the wide variety of topics Engelmann has explored over the last half century and his unique insights into problems within the world of education.

McGraw-Hill, the primary publisher of the DI family of programs, has released the 2015 Price List. Print versions of the catalog will no longer be distributed.

The following DI programs are included in the price list:

- Reading Mastery
- Horizons
- Corrective Reading
- Language for Learning, Language for Thinking
As a complement to the forthcoming catalog, the National Institute for Direct Instruction has also created a DI Materials Cost Worksheet that will aid administrators and other decision makers in determining program material costs. Constructed as a Microsoft Excel document, users can simply enter the quantities for each title and component into the worksheet, and the total estimated cost is automatically calculated at the bottom of the sheet. This document is updated regularly to reflect current pricing from the publisher, but users need to verify actual pricing from the publisher or through their sales representative. Note that the material cost spreadsheet includes price information for Direct Instruction Spoken English (DISE), published by Sopris Learning. NIFDI does not sell these programs directly and recommends this worksheet as a tool for estimating only.
